FINDING SUMMER OPPORTUNITIES!

Even though it's still the fall semester, summer opportunity deadlines are coming up fast... and there are plenty to apply for!

Check out a few below:

- The International Internship Program (IIP) is an opportunity to work with a specialized company or research university abroad for 8 weeks. Internships range from finance in India to computer science in Northern Ireland and anything in between. Applications are due Weds., Dec. 5, so make an appointment with Luisa Duarte-Silva ASAP!
- Princeton Internships in Civic Service (PICS) are social work-oriented programs in which students can grow their leadership and people skills while also building their resumes and earning a bit of money. This program sends students to various communities within the U.S. to work in various fields. Applications are due Fri., Dec. 7!
- Global Seminars and Summer Princeton Abroad Programs are similar in that students apply and are sent to a country of choice to participate in a culture and language immersion course for Princeton credit! Global Seminars can be classes of any sort with a small language component. Princeton Abroad programs are almost entirely language-focused, and typically give course credit equivalent to either a 200- or 300-level language class. Global Seminar applications are due Fri., Dec. 14, and Princeton Abroad applications are due Thurs., Feb. 14. Both are submitted through the Global Programs System (GPS).
- Handshake is a job search site that connects you to a broad range of companies through job postings, on-campus event alerts and more. New internships are posted every day so be sure to check it frequently. Set up a meeting with Career Services prior to applying to jobs if you need help creating or refining your resumes or cover letters!

Summer deadlines are coming up, but you should not feel overwhelmed by them!

There are PLENTY of opportunities and information to guide you through the process.

As always, we are here to help with any questions you may have! Good luck!
